Authenticity of the journal is substantiated with an International Standard Serial Number (ISSN) issued by the ISSN authorities' office based in Paris, France. This is a Peer Reviewed journal as well.

2. Articles are invited for the 38th Issue of the subject journal from all DSCSC alumni (any Mirpurian; both serving and retired) as well as reputed authors, researchers and scholars. You are requested to consider the following points before sending the articles:

a. Subject Matter. Articles may be written on any military thoughts i.e training, operations, arms and ammunition, organization, current developments, burning issues, etc. Articles on Liberation War, personal experience or research paper also can be sent. Besides, write-ups on thought-provoking, national, regional and international affairs or events on the latest scientific pursuits may also be forwarded. In this regard, subject matter and the thematic approach should encompass the overall interest of Bangladesh Armed Forces and the nation as well. Whatever may be the subject of writing, a creative and research-based approach needs to be followed in the article.

b. Language and Size. Articles must be written within 3000-5000 words in English. The number of total words should be mentioned in the synopsis. It should be typed clearly in double space using Times New Roman 12 font. British standard rules are to be followed in spelling. You are also requested not to use any military abbreviations in the article.

c. Reference, Note, Picture and Diagram. Based on the requirements, universally accepted reference style, note, picture and diagram should be properly attached with the writing. It is to be mentioned that the original copy of the attached items should be sent

d. Security Classification. All articles published in Mirpur Papers are treated as unclassified. Hence, articles to be submitted for Mirpur Papers do not require any security classification. You are requested to consider this aspect while selecting an issue/subject.

e. Plagiarism & AI. Any portion of the writing is copied or taken as verbatim from internet/ published/unpublished sources or AI generated will be considered as 'Plagiarism' and will not be accepted. Author should follow the recognized system of reference. All articles will be examined by plagiarism & AI licensed software.
